

Anaesthetist – King’s Lynn – United Kingdom

Submitted on: 30/03/2019, Reference number: 2019053

End date: 30/06/2019

Location:

King's Lynn has a population of about 43,000 inhabitants. Since the 12th century, the city has been an important harbour for England, with its maritime history still visible. The heritage of the city is reflected in an astonishing array of historic buildings and several beautiful markets within the city centre. Old merchant houses are positioned along the riverbanks of the Great Ouse and are aligned with cobblestone alleys. The iconic St Margaret's Church, designated by the Bishop of Norwich as a minster church in 2011, is located at the Saturday Market Place and is surrounded by characteristic buildings.

The bigger cities of Norwich and Cambridge are located within an hour drive. King's Lynn is one of the holiday retreats of the British royal family, consequently providing an excellent train network with London. King's Lynn is a popular holiday destination among the British population due to the beautiful and green environment, including its coastal location.

The hospital has 488 beds and offers secondary care to a population of approximately 330,000 people.

Job Description:

For this hospital in the United Kingdom, we are currently looking for two Anaesthetists for a permanent, full-time (1.0 fte) position.

The current team consists of 5 specialists, 9 trainees and multiple specialised nurses. The department runs an active postgraduate training programme with focus on research, international collaboration and structural education. There are 9 operating theatres and a surgical team covering a wide range of surgical specialties. There is a day surgery centre and a critical care centre as part of the surgical facility.

Main responsibilities consist of clinical duties and also includes organisational and teaching tasks. Anaesthetic service is provided for elective and emergency surgery, including on-call commitment to critical care. There is a good collaboration with other departments. You will also supervise junior staff and work in a multi-disciplinary team. In addition, you will help provide training, supervision and career development next to contributing to the education of junior doctors and (para)medical students.

The specific content of the job is negotiable. The employer offers attractive employment conditions. The annual salary will be between £ 76,000 and £ 108,000 depending on your experience and qualifications. MMedical will help you with obtaining all the required registrations.
