End date: 19/05/2019

Location:

Timaru is a port city in the southern Canterbury region of New Zealand. Timaru is located on the South Island, about 157 kilometres from Christchurch and 196 kilometres from Dunedin. It has approximately 28.000 inhabitants. Timaru is located on the main highway on the south island and has a small airport for mainly domestic flights to, for example, the international airport of Wellington. Timaru is situated in a beautiful area where many outdoor activities can be practiced, such as skiing, hiking and swimming. It has a dry oceanic climate with high temperatures in the summer and low temperatures in the winter.

The hospital in question provides care to a population of around 60.000 people in the South Canterbury region. Furthermore, this secondary care hospital has 132 beds. The Anaesthesiology department is supported by a specialist team consisting of 10 anaesthetists. The department also works closely with specialized nurses and various other departments. The team offers support at among others, the obstetric units and various Intensive Care Units.

Job Description:

On behalf of this hospital we are looking for an anaesthetist with a sub specialism in pain management for a full (or part-) time, for a minimum duration of one year.
